Borah Once More Introduces Economic Parley Resolution Head Of Rhineland Invaders In Threat Against Germans

REFUSES TO HEED ADMINISTRATION DISAPPROVAL

Senatorial Views to Again Get Publicity; Limitation On Aircraft Urged

BULLETIN
WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 30.—President Harding's belief that a world economic conference at this time is impracticable, is in no way altered by the reintroduction of the Borah resolution in the senate, it was stated officially at the White House this afternoon. The same elements that moved President Harding to announce opposition to such a conference some time ago, namely the unwillingness of European nations to subordinate their differences for the common good, still prevails in the world situation, it was said.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30.—Disregarding alike the disapproval of administration forces and his old "irreconcilable" colleagues of other days, Senator William E. Borah, Republican, of Idaho, again introduced in the senate today his resolution requesting President Harding to call a world economic conference to discuss measures essential to European rehabilitation and international commerce.

The resolution will be made the vehicle for another thorough airing of the senatorial views on the international situation. In addition to financial matters, the conference suggested by Borah would also consider the limitation of auxiliary vessels of 10,000 tons displacement, and of aircraft. The resolution provided:

Some Provisions
"That the president is authorized and requested to invite such governments as he may deem necessary or expedient to send representatives to a conference which shall be charged with the duty of considering economic problems now obtaining throughout the world with a view of arriving at such understandings or settlements as may seem essential to the restoration of trade and to the establishment of sound financial and business conditions; and also to considering the subject of further limitation of armaments with a view of reaching an understanding or agreement upon said matter both by land and by sea, and particularly relative to limiting the construction of all types and sizes of sub-surface craft of 10,000 tons standard displacement, or less, and of aircraft."

Prevents Reference
Contrary to expectation the proposal was not attached as an amendment to the army supply bill, where it would be subject to a point of order, or to the Lenroot amendment, which probably would result in tying up rural relief bills indefinitely. By laying the resolution upon the table Borah prevented its reference to the foreign relations committee.

The proposal in substance was identical with the measure he offered as an amendment to the navy appropriation measures, but which later was withdrawn on assurances from administration leaders that the president had put "feelings" to foreign governments, offering American aid in an endeavor to solve intricate international problems.

Up to President
As in the former resolution Borah's proposal today authorized and requested the president to invite such nations he deemed wise and expedient to participate in a conference, the expressed purpose of which would be to work out a plan for rehabilitation of international economic and financial stability.

In making this move Borah made it plain he felt the United States should take a most affirmative stand in the present economic crisis, and assume a moral leadership which would point out a way for European governments to solve their economic and financial ills.

San Fernando Merchant Held for Embezzlement
LOS ANGELES, Jan. 30.—Max Goodman, proprietor of a market at San Fernando, was arrested today by deputy sheriffs on a Denver-Colorado warrant, charging him with embezzlement. Goodman was said by the officers to be connected with the embezzlement of $17,000 worth of Denver produce.

Powerful Fleet Is Ready for Move in Near East Conflict

By LUTHER A. HUSTON
For International News Service
LONDON, Jan. 30.—Foreign officials today have abandoned hope that Turkey will sign the Near East treaty presented by the allies at Lausanne. Great Britain is adopting a policy of watchful waiting and is prepared either for war or peace.

There is a powerful British fleet at anchor in the Turkish straits and the British are maintaining armies at such strategic points as Constantinople, Mosul and Chanak.

A gigantic British fortress has been erected at Chanak, controlling traffic through the Dardanelles. There is every indication that the British will defend the Mosul oil fields with troops if the Turks carry out their threats to occupy that region.

Foreign office and war office officials said the British position in the Near East is perfectly secure. The British fleet and the forces in Constantinople within a few hours could divide the Turkish armies in Thrace and Anatolia, driving them into the interior at their leisure.

POLICE CAPTURE LOAD OF LIQUOR

Officers Estimate Value of Consignment at $2000; Driver Is Held

Two thousand dollars' worth of bonded liquor was seized this morning as it was going through Glendale, by representatives of the Glendale Police department. While patrolling his beat this morning, Officer Louis Nunn noticed a new Red speedwagon go north on San Fernando road without license plates. It was accompanied by a touring car. Nunn became suspicious that this machine had gone after a load of liquor, and half an hour later, when it returned, he and Officer W. W. Hedrick were waiting.

W. E. King of 6575 Fountain avenue, Hollywood, driver of the car, called attention to the red lost-plate certificate upon the windshield. This did not satisfy the policemen and they flashed their spotlights into the rear of the car. The word "gin" inscribed upon a case was the first thing to greet their eyes.

Included in the consignment of liquor, which was taken to the police department, are eight cases of various sizes, each carefully bound with metal and sealed with red wax.

King, the driver of the liquor car, is being held by the local police authorities for investigation.

Two Dead, Two Others Hurt in Race Riots

BLANFORD, Ind., Jan. 30.—Tension gripped this city today as the authorities prepared to prevent further anti-black demonstrations. Two unidentified men were killed today and two others were wounded, including Sheriff Harry Newland, during a clash between a posse and a group of miners. The men killed were Serbian miners.

The outbreak came as a climax to more than a week of tension, which has existed since an attack on a 12-year-old white girl. The assault was followed by a warning to all the negro miners to leave the country.

Mary saw in the paper that there was a lot more buildin' in Glendale in January this year than in January, 1922. She says it was no surprise to her for she has seen for a long time that Glendale is bound to be a big city. With the merchants aimin' to give Glendale first-class stores and the people spendin' their money in Glendale she says there ain't no human can set a limit as to how big or how great Glendale will get to be.

U. S. TERMS CAUSE DIVIDED OPINION AMONG ENGLISH

Better Arrangements Cannot Be Made on Debt Issue, Cabinet Is Informed

BULLETIN
LONDON, Jan. 30.—The British cabinet considered the Anglo-American debt question today without taking a decisive decision on acceptance or rejection of the American terms for the funding of the $4,500,000,000 obligation. It was announced through the foreign office that the cabinet would meet again tomorrow. It is semi-officially stated that the chances for acceptance of the American terms are much brighter at this time.

By DAVID M. CHURCH
For International News Service
LONDON, Jan. 30.—The British cabinet met today to consider the Anglo-American debt issue and listened to an appeal from Chancellor of the Exchequer Stanley Baldwin that the debt terms of the United States funding commission, providing for a 3 per cent interest rate, be accepted. Baldwin said that the government could rest assured no better terms could be obtained.

The outcome of the meeting was clouded with uncertainty due to the division of opinion among the ministers. The "die hards" declared they would not consent to the American terms while Premier Bonar Law was uncertain as to his own future course. He told his colleagues that he was entering the meeting with an open mind.

Best It Can Get
Bonar Law is known to hold the opinion that the American terms are "too severe" for England and her present financial difficulties, but he is being told daily by other ministers, by bankers and by influential newspapers that the best course is to accept the terms because they are the best Britain can get.

Financiers are urging acceptance on the ground it will assist business, they fear that rejection will depress the value of the British pound.

Difference of Opinion
It was officially admitted at No. 10 Downing street that the differences of opinion in the cabinet were so sharply divided that there was little likelihood of a decision at this time. It is possible, that before a decision is reached, formal query will be sent to Washington to ascertain if the United States would consent to a re-opening of debt funding operations if Great Britain accepts the present terms.

These terms call for a 3 per cent interest rate for ten years with an increase of one-half per cent subsequently and a sinking fund to be created by imposing one-half of one per cent. The debt is about $4,500,000,000.

Hundred Girls Make Their Escape From Fire

HOBOKEN, N. J., Jan. 30.—Frantic with fright, their eyes blinded by smoke, 100 girls stood screaming at the front windows of a dance hall on the second floor early today when they were trapped by a blaze which started on the first floor. Many of them were prevented from jumping only by the strenuous efforts of their escorts.

Four hundred men and women were in the hall when the first wisp of smoke wound up the stairs. All but 100 were able to leave by the exits before the dense smoke barred the way. The remainder, clad in flimsy ball gowns, fought to get to the windows until employees of the place secured ladders and aided them to the street. Shortly after the last of the dancers had been led to safety, flames burst through the ceiling and into the dance hall.

Couple Narrowly Escape Death in Auto Plunge

REDDING, Calif., Jan. 30.—William See, capitalist from Portland, and Mrs. See, plunged off a grade in their automobile in Little Shasta canyon, five miles north of Yreka yesterday afternoon. The machine fell about 100 feet, but its occupants were not badly hurt, although both were confined to the Yreka hospital for a week. The car was demolished.

Seasonal Rainfall Record Growing, But It's Far Back Of Mark Set Up Last Year

RAINS of yesterday afternoon, last night and today recall the fact that a year ago today was much wetter than today, that is as far as rain records are concerned. The rain gauge owned by H. E. Bartlett of 333 West Broadway shows that yesterday afternoon, last night and early this morning .98 of an inch of rain fell in Glendale. This brings the 1923 seasonal record up to 7.35 inches.

However, this can't be considered as a really wet record when one considers that the seasonal record a year ago today stood at 18.37 inches.

FALL OF SNOW IN NORTHERN CALIFORNIA
SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 30.—The most general snowfall in northern California in years occurred last night, reports reaching here today indicated. Snow fell in San Francisco in residential and beach districts. Berkeley reported a light fall. San Jose had snow together with rain and hail, while the fall on Mount Hamilton reached a depth of nearly a foot.

The Santa Cruz mountains were covered with a mantle of white, motorists reported, and Stockton residents had the novelty of seeing roofs snow-covered for a short time. Several other points reported hail or light snow. Northern California points reported heavy snows, the mountain districts having veritable blizzards.

JAP IMMIGRATION OPEN WARFARE IN DISPUTE DELAYS CHANGE IN LAW

Exclusion Is Favored by Majority of Committee; Cautious Protest

By A. O. HAYWARD
For International News Service
WASHINGTON, Jan. 30.—Japanese immigration, a tender subject between the United States and Japan for a score of years, has again cropped up to plague the diplomats of both countries, and today has divided the house immigration committee to a point where changes in the present three per cent law are being held up.

A majority of the committee favors writing into the law a provision excluding Japanese from admission into United States territory. This was to be accomplished indirectly by providing that only those aliens eligible to citizenship should be admitted. The United States supreme court held in a recent decision that Japanese were not of the white race and were not eligible to citizenship under federal law.

Being Held Back
The state department objected to inclusion of this provision in the immigration law. It was feared it might bring to a head the slumbering issue with Japan, and interfere with diplomatic negotiations to adjust the matter without bitter feeling or animosity. The majority of the committee wants to go ahead despite the warnings of the state department diplomats, but are held back by the more cautious members.

Tentative agreement has been reached by the committee to reduce the immigration restriction to two per cent and base quotas on the 1890 alien resident population instead of on the 1910 census, as at present.

Permit Same Total
Irrespective of the quotas it is planned to admit the father, mother, husband or wife, brothers and sisters, and minor children of naturalized citizens and aliens who have applied for naturalization, and a minimum quota of 400 for every country from which eligible aliens are entitled to come.

This change in the law, it is estimated, would permit of about the same total of immigrants as at present, about 360,000, but would give the larger quotas to the countries of northern Europe and would take care of new states created as a result of the recent war and of old states from which the immigration has been light during the past thirty years.

GERMANY DOES NOT EXPECT ANY AID FROM RUSSIANS

General Ludendorff Gives His Views; French Will Remain Long Period

BULLETIN
MAYENCE, Jan. 30.—German railroaders today voted in favor of a general strike as a protest against French invasion. Foreign office officials claim that the railway strike in the Rhineland is failing.

By S. D. WEYER
For International News Service
MUNICH, Jan. 30.—"Russia is the unknown quantity in Europe, but certainly we cannot expect any support from that quarter."

The statement was made today in the heart of the German Fascist by Germany's foremost military expert, General Erich Ludendorff, formerly chief of staff to Field Marshal Hindenburg, and known as the brains of the German army.

General Ludendorff said he believed Russia would remain the "unknown quantity of Europe" until spring. Referring to the departure of the American army of occupation, the German military chief said:

"They are gone, but French influence not only upon the Rhine, but throughout the European continent is tremendously strengthened. The presence of American soldiers at least has been a sort of counter-balance."

No Intervention Hope
At the outset Ludendorff said: "Unless a miracle intervenes you will see the French in the Ruhr a year hence, may be several. I have not the slightest hope of English or American intervention."

The correspondent informed the famous soldier he was leaving for the Ruhr in a hour on a special train and invited him to go along.

Not Anxious to Go
Ludendorff smiled and raised both hands as though in protest. "No, sir, thanks," he exclaimed. "I should go to the Ruhr my enemies would raise the cry that I was about to lead the German citizens of the Ruhr against the French."

"No, thanks, I want to refrain from all steps that might be interpreted as provocative of trouble. God knows our people have had suffering enough. I want to lighten, not increase their burden and hardships."

Woman Is Burned to Death, Others Escape

HERMOSA BEACH, Cal., Jan. 30.—One woman was burned to death and two little children and an aged woman narrowly escaped the same fate here today when fire, following a violent explosion practically destroyed the residence of Mrs. M. P. Blin.

Neighbors for several blocks around were awakened by the explosion, rushed into the burning house and saved the two children, a boy and a girl, and their grandmother, but were too late to save Mrs. Blin, who was found a mass of flames. A neighbor, W. W. Kennedy, carried her to the street, but she was already dead.

The explosion is thought to have been caused when escaping gas was ignited by a fire in an adjoining room.

A falling timber, dislodged by the force of the blast in the little home, struck Mrs. Blin's mother, who was painfully, but not seriously hurt.

Mrs. Blin's husband at Boulder, Colo., was notified.

Income Tax Expert Announces Time He Will Be in Glendale

GET ready for the income tax man! A deputy collector from the office of Rex B. Goodcell, collector of internal revenue, sixth district of California, will be in Glendale on February 23, 24, 26, 27 and 28 and March 10, 12, 13, 14 and 15, at the city hall to receive income tax returns for the year 1922 and to assist in their preparation.

It will facilitate matters if taxpayers will have their returns filled out so that they may be checked and acknowledged without unnecessary delay. The deputy will be glad to assist the taxpayer and interpret any part of the regulations that are not thoroughly understood. Taxpayers are urged to "come as early as possible" and bring with them the forms they received by mail.

Any taxpayer in doubt as to his liability for filing a return should consult the deputy, as liability for filing a return may exist even though there is no tax to pay.

No fee is required to be paid to the deputy collector for his services to the taxpayer, and Collector Goodcell advises taxpayers to avail themselves of this service.

Bandits Hold Up Army Pay Car, Get $43,000

LANGLEY FIELD, Va., Jan. 30.—Two daring bandits, working coolly and with lightning-like rapidity, today held up a United States army pay car containing $43,000, forced the soldiers in it to drive into the country and then after ditching the car and tying the soldiers up with ropes, escaped with the money into the woods.

The ditched car, together with the captive soldiers, was discovered shortly after 2 o'clock this afternoon four miles west of Langley field, after posses of citizens, soldiers from the field and police officers had been searching for trace of it for several hours.

The automobile was in charge of Captain Norman D. Cota, a West Point graduate, and contained Sergeant Jones and Privates Foster and Davis. None of them were seriously injured.

BRITISH AUTHORITY GIVES WARNING OF NEAR EAST WAR

Lord Curzon Asks Problem Be Taken Up; French Premier Has Hope

BULLETIN
LONDON, Jan. 30.—"We will break the Germans' will and we intend to impose our own will upon them!" General De Goutte, commander of the Franco-Belgian army of occupation in the Rhineland, was quoted as saying in a dispatch from Dusseldorf to The Evening News today. General De Goutte continued:

"But let there be no misjudgment. Moderation is not weakness. They are mistaken who suppose that our patience has no limit. We are going to do our work and have our way."

By FRANK E. MASON

PARIS, Jan. 30.—A note from Lord Curzon, British foreign secretary and head of the British delegation in the Lausanne conference, emphasizing the menace of war in the Near East, was read to the League of Nations council today. The document was transmitted to the council by Earl Balfour, who presented England's claim to the Mosul oil fields and formally requested the league to intervene in Britain's behalf.

Lord Curzon regretted that the Turks have refused so far to accept the allies' peace terms. He asked that the League of Nations take up the Near East problem "actively to prevent a recurrence of hostilities between Turkey and Greece."

Still Hope, Claim
Rene Viviani, former French premier, and presiding officer in the council meeting, replied that the Near East peace conference is not yet completed and that "there is still hope for a happy solution." He continued:

"We most ardently wish that the world's peace not be disturbed, but if a complete rupture comes at Lausanne the league will intervene to prevent war."

No action was taken on Lord Curzon's note.

RENEWS DEMANDS FOR REMOVAL OF NEIGHBOR'S COW

Rate Eagle Rock Citizen Plans to Seek Redress in New Quarter

For the fourth time in the last few weeks, Mrs. M. J. Kirkse of Fairmont avenue appeared before the board of trustees of the City of Eagle Rock last night and urged the passage of an ordinance that would remove her neighbor's cow from the near proximity of her residence.

After the reading of the minutes of the previous meeting of the board, Mayor Osborne asked if anyone present had anything to bring before the trustees. Mrs. Kirkse immediately arose to the occasion and stated the board was not going to get rid of her as easily as all that. While she understood the question had been tabled at the last meeting, and while she was not just sure what "tabled" meant, she took it that the trustees intended to take no further action on the matter. Therefore, she was present again with witnesses to see that the board did something. Mrs. Kirkse then called upon a neighbor, Mr. Olsen, to verify her allegations.

Mr. Olsen stated he had lived at the Kirkse home in June of last year and that the flies were "terrible." He inferred they came from the neighbor's cow pen. Mrs. Court, another neighbor, also expressed the same sentiments.

Attorney Reports

Mrs. Kirkse then stated she had the Eagle Rock ordinance bearing on the subject and purpose of reading it to the trustees, that they might become fully informed on the subject. At this time, the major interposed and stated the trustees had devoted much time to the question and as they had many other questions to consider, they could not take the matter up again at that time, to the exclusion of all other matters. He said the matter had been tabled to make a comparison with ordinances of other cities and suggest any changes that might appear to be a benefit to the public at large. He then called for a report from Attorney McNitt, which was given.

The attorney's report gave extracts of various sections of the city ordinance, also stating the ordinance was not quite as drastic as the Palo Alto ordinance, which Mrs. Kirkse had insisted should be adopted. It made no specific recommendations. On motion of Bergsvik, the communication was filed with the clerk.

JOHNSON OFFERS MEASURES TO SOLVE STATE FOREST PROBLEM

Would Amend Constitution and Exempt From Taxation Young Growth of Timber

By GIL A. COWAN
Special to The Evening News

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 30.—Presentation of two bills in the senate by Senator A. Burlingame Johnson of Pasadena, regarding reforestation, has particular appeal to lumbermen, timberland owners, builders and the forestry service. Because this work takes a life time for accomplishment, it is not a matter of present issue and argument, but one for which posterity will thank the legislature of 1923 if it passes these measures.

Speaking on the subject, Senator Johnson said: "The object I have in mind in presenting the two measures is to find a solution of the problem of reforestation of the cut-over timber lands of the state of California. For twenty years it has been a subject which has interested the legislators and those who have in mind the maintenance of the timber supply for future generations."

"Efforts have been made to interest lumbermen in some method of reforestation, but in every instance the results have been negative. I have sought to find an answer to the real question involved and that is the economic burden that it is sought to place upon those who are demanding the forests to operate their mills."

Slow Growth of Trees
"It requires from seventy-five to 100 years to grow to maturity a California yellow pine or fir, and even a greater time to mature sugar pines. Redwood, second growth, which usually encircles the old stump, can be utilized for commercial purposes, possibly at an earlier date, but the redwood area, as compared with our forests as a whole, is limited. Companies removing forests, if they were to undertake reforestation under modern methods, would find that after they had seeded and cared for a forest for, say, sixty to eighty years, they would, by that time, have paid out more money for taxation than the timber on the forest thus grown would be worth after it was manufactured, even though the price of lumber in the meantime should double."

Taxes Prohibitive
"This being true it is not to be expected that timbermen will spend any considerable sum toward reforestation. While it is the practice of assessors to reduce the assessed valuation of the cut-over land, the taxes, even at the reduced valuation, simply become prohibitive. On the other hand, they contemplate that if they were to care for these forests through their own life time, hoping that their children might receive some benefit, they are aware of the fact that after the young growth had been cared for for twenty-five years, it would present such a beautiful appearance as a valuable growing forest that assessors, seeking sources of revenue, would raise the valuation and before another twenty-five years of increasing taxation had expired, they would have paid out in taxes far greater sums than the forest would yield when manufactured and still be confronted with the fact that the third twenty-five years was still to bear the burden."

Exempt Timber Lands
"This answers the question as to why it has been impossible to interest millmen in reforesting their cut-over lands. My purpose is to exempt from taxation, wholly, all cut-over timber lands, the owners of which have undertaken, under regulations which may be prescribed, the reforestation of such lands and continue to care for them and their protection from fire. I have consulted the state forestry department and enlisted their co-operation, also that of numerous large mill owners and am now contemplating a conference to be held before the beginning of the second part of this legislative session of representative timbermen and mill men of the state. At this conference experts of the state and national forestry bureaus will be invited to be present. If a plan can be worked out, as we know that it can, which will meet the hearty endorsement of the millmen, then there is no doubt of the success of the undertaking."

Huge Cut-Over Area

"There are tens of thousands of acres of cut-over land in California. In fact, it is estimated that one-third of the entire timberland of the state has now been cut-over, which means an immense undertaking, of course, as any plans that might be inaugurated would only embrace a small percentage of this cut-over land in any given decade.

"This land is not suited for agricultural purposes and is indifferent in value for stock-grazing, except possibly for sheep, but sheep, above all animals, would destroy the last hope of reforestation."

Expert Supervisors

"It is easy to understand that timber operators, because of their legal organization and knowledge of conditions, would be best fitted for supervising reforestation in their immediate vicinity. If these companies, as they cut off the marketable timber, knew that by complying with certain rules, they could place the cut-over land in a non-taxable list, and that any monies that they might expend, during the present, or following generation, would be protected and pass on to their successors, they would realize the prospective value of the growing forest. They would anticipate that at some time in the future their young forests, although possibly, not one-half grown to maturity, would also have an exchange value which would be recognized by the state, and that they could exchange for mature forests and leave to the state the care of young forests for the remainder of their growing period."

Change Constitution

"These are not all new ideas, but an attempt to put into practical form that which foresters have been considering for many years. In order to cover the subject it would be necessary to amend the constitution of the state, relative to taxation. This I am covering by a proposed constitutional amendment. The matter of the rules and regulations that would make the project workable must be covered by a new enactment, which, necessarily, must go into considerable detail, and which calls for expert advice of foresters, on one hand, and the practical advice of timbermen and lumbermen, upon the other. The success of the plan must, in the end, depend. If it does not meet with the hearty approval of the men who are now cutting away our forests then it would be a waste of energy to make the attempt."

Plan Is Practical

"Timbermen think a practical plan can be worked out. It is my hope that, before this session of the legislature adjourns, we will be able to present to the people of California a solution of the problem of reforestation, insofar as cut-over lands are involved."

The state forestry department is aiding the senator in every way in working out this program and all the remains now is for the lumbermen to give the legislation their enthusiastic support, it is said.

Turn Down Resolution To Probe Sonoma Farm

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 30.—The assembly by a vote of 35 to 28 voted down a resolution by Assemblyman Scott of San Francisco calling for the appointment of a legislative committee to investigate the Sonoma industrial farm for delinquent women.

The resolution called for an appropriation of $500 to cover the expenses of the proposed investigating committee of three members.

The committee, headed by Assemblyman Fellom, which was appointed last week by the assembly to get definite information from the governor as to when his budget would be forthcoming, reported back to the assembly that the budget and the general appropriation bills covering the governor's recommendations for the maintenance of state institutions would be given to the legislature Wednesday. It will not be in printed form until Thursday.

Fellom was informed by the governor that the new budget statement as to the state government's expenses that has been compiled.

It includes, Fellom reported, a detailed list of every employee of every state department with the amount of salary he is paid.

EMPLOYEES OF CITY ARE SCORED BY REALTY BOARD

Deputy Building Inspector Quits When Protest Is Read to Council

The Eagle Rock Realty Board voiced a strong objection to city employees selling fire insurance as a side line, while in pursuit of their duties, in a protest directed to the board of trustees and presented to the body last evening. The realty board takes the position, as expressed in the communication, that the duties involved in looking after the city's interests should be sufficient to keep employees busy and should not give them time to devote their energies to a business that is strictly out of their line. The communication was directed particularly to Deputy Building Inspector J. Frank White.

Immediately after the communication was read from the Realty Board, the resignation of Mr. White was read by the clerk.

On motion both communications were ordered placed on file with the city clerk. No discussion followed the introduction of either communication.

ECONOMY PLANS GET INDORSEMENT

Wasteful Expenditure School Funds Is Opposed by Glendale Citizens

Editor The Evening News—During the past few months, beginning prior to the last school bond election, there has been a series of informal conferences and neighborly meetings participated in by a considerable number of substantial citizens of this city. For the purpose of considering and discussing matters of vital interest to the taxpayers of this community. From these conferences, and free discussions there has grown a better understanding on the part of the participants there, in concerning the history, growth and needs of this city. Also there has come a recognition of the importance of enlisting the active interest of Glendaleans generally and of "newcomers" in particular, who now outnumber the "pioneers" by two or three to one, in local questions vitally affecting the prosperity of the present and future generations of this city.

Adopt Resolution

One of the results of several such "meetings" recently held was the unanimous adoption of the following resolution: "Resolved, That we, citizens of Glendale, Los Angeles county, California, do most heartily approve and endorse the declared purpose of Governor Friend W. Richardson to encourage, promote and demand economy and efficiency in the conduct of the public business whether it relates to state, county, municipal or educational affairs."

"That we pledge the governor our unwavering support in his effort to effect retrenchment in public expenditures by abolishing sinecures, eliminating waste and generally to put an end to the orgy of spending public moneys without commensurate value received."

"In respect to the administration of our public school system we commend the governor for the courageous declaration made by him in his inaugural address to wit: "The people are willing to contribute liberally to education because it promotes better citizenship, but are not willing to have their money squandered. The educational departments of the state should be placed on an economical and efficient basis, waste should be eliminated and advocates of thrift should be placed in control."

Wasting School Money

"Resolved, That we urge our representatives in the legislature to support the governor in his every effort to make effective his declared policy, and to such end we urge our said legislative representatives to do any and all things necessary and proper within their power, to aid the governor and put a curb on the wasteful expenditures of school funds, and restrain the highly centralized organization now in control of the administration of our public school affairs."

"We likewise heartily endorse the stand the governor has taken on the subject of retrenchment of representation in the state legislature to conform to the mandatory provisions of the state constitution and we urge our representatives to aid vigorously in this matter."

"Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be forwarded to Governor Richardson and to our legislative representatives, the Hon. Burlingame Johnson and the Hon. Frank C. Weller."

A committee of three, consisting of Dr. P. S. Kellogg, Asa Hall and W. H. Armstrong was selected to communicate with the governor, Senator Johnson and Assemblyman Weller and forward to them copies of the resolutions.

Alleged Kidnaping Plot Foiled by Clever Ruse

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 30.—What is believed to have been an attempt to kidnap Mrs. Billie Reed, prominent society woman of Rosewood avenue, was frustrated when Mrs. Reed resorted to a clever ruse when she telephoned to the Hollywood police.

Two men are said to have driven up to the Reed residence and told her husband was seriously injured and offered to take her to him.

Becoming suspicious, Mrs. Reed told the men she would get her wraps first and would telephone to a gentleman friend to meet them. The men then said they would drive to the hospital, and drove away.

In the meantime Mrs. Reed telephoned the police and the men did not return.

SONGS, TALKS AND ENTHUSIASM AT COMMUNITY SERVICE DINNER

E. D. DeGroat, of Los Angeles, Tells About Growth of Movement, 'Successful Leisure'

CONGENIALITY and a desire to "help the other fellow" were features of the banquet last night in the assembly room of the Chamber of Commerce under the auspices of Community Service. George B. Karr of 1725 South Brand boulevard had charge of the arrangements. All present agreed that he had not misrepresented the facts when he had said that they would get $1 worth of food and $24 worth of Community spirit.

Portions of chicken breast formed the base for the menu. Baked potatoes, cranberry sauce, fruit cocktail, coffee, hot rolls, ice cream and cake were some of the other items.

Val M. Hollister, president of Glendale's Community Service organization, acted as toastmaster. "Community Service means in the first place that you know your neighbor," declared Mr. Hollister, "inviting every one to become acquainted with his neighbor."

"I wish at this time to thank each and every one of you for coming here tonight," he remarked later. "I want first to thank those who have made it possible for us to have Community Service here in a large way. I am referring to the City Council, the Chamber of Commerce, the High School Board of Trustees and the Grammar School Board of Trustees. I wish to thank each and every one of you who has contributed to this dinner to make it a success. I am sure that in the months to come you will readily see the big benefit that community service will be to Glendale."

Gives Indorsement

Mayor Spencer Robinson sang two tenor solos, one, "Kathleen Mavourneen," overflowed with sentiment, while the second, "The Trumpeter," caught the hall ringing with its virility. He was accompanied upon the piano by Mrs. Spencer Robinson.

Members of the City Council occupied places of honor at the speakers' table. On account of sickness, Councilman Dwight W. Stephenson was unable to be present. Councilmen S. A. Davis, A. H. Lapham and C. E. Kimlin expressed their indorsement of Community Service.

"I consider this a rather bright sort of occasion so we are going to sing some bright songs," announced Alex Stewart, director of musical activities for Community Service. The assembly did. "I've Been Working On the Railroad" was changed to "I've Been Working On the Budget." Several novelty songs followed. Miss Gertrude Chapman of 441 Hawthorne street acted as accompanist.

Rev. C. M. Calderwood, pastor of the First Congregational church, pronounced the blessing.

Tells of Growth

The growth of the Community Service movement from the establishment of Boston Commons in 1924 to the present time was traced briefly by E. D. DeGroat of Los Angeles who was the principal speaker of the occasion.

"Community Service seeks to help residents become 'members' of the community," he remarked. "It seems to me that there is a thing you people should ponder. People have poured in here in such numbers that you should ask yourselves are they residents or members of this community."

Chairman Tells Amount Of Oil Co.'s Earnings

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30.—Since 1912 the net earnings of the Union Oil company of California totalled $71,111,962. W. L. Stewart, Los Angeles, president, testified before the senate oil investigating committee.

Total cash dividend declarations during the same period reached $34,579,412, he added.

The company was organized in 1890 with a capitalization of $5,000,000 which in 1900 was increased to $10,000,000. In 1908 the capitalization increased to $50,000,000 when a stock dividend of 200 per cent was declared. The capitalization in 1922 was $100,000,000, Stewart said.

Explaining the relationship of the company to the Royal Dutch Shell interests, Stewart said, the latter acquired about 26 per cent of the stock in 1912 through New York firms representing the Union Oil company of Delaware.

In response to repeated questioning by Senator La Follette, Republican, of Wisconsin, Chairman Stewart declared he had no knowledge that Royal Dutch was seeking to acquire stock in any other oil company in the United States.

In front of the judge's bench were a pile of trunks and the stove. On a bench butcher knives, sickles, twenty-four women's combs and curling irons, women's shoes and barrettes.

A sack of soiled laundry went for $3.25.

Side Talks by Ruth Cameron

BUSINESS AND FRIENDSHIP

Two women whom I know went into business together a year ago. They were to run, as a tea house, a little old fashioned house, which belonged to one of them.

Something about the need of definite understanding in regard to business arrangements was said to them by a practical friend at the time they were making their plans. What part was the contribution of the house to take in the contract? Were they to have definite working hours and definite jobs for each?

"Oh, we haven't gone into those things very much," said the woman to whom the question was put. "Those things will work themselves out. You know Elsie and I have always been great friends. I know she'd be fair to me and I would to her. We shall both do our best to make the undertaking a success. So much depends on it, you know."

But they were gentlemen friends. "Yes," said the practical friend, "I do know. That's just the point."

Whereupon the lady of the tea house grew plainly rather miffed and implied that when gentlemen went into business together it was not necessary to hedge themselves about with the contracts and arrangements in the way ordinary people might. They had their honor and their friendship, and that ought to be enough.

That, needless to say, ended the conversation.

The partnership—I fancy it is equally needless to tell you this—has also ended.

I went on for about a year. Fairly smoothly and with much mutual exchange of compliments for the first few weeks. After that hitchily. Then more hitchily. Then it ended.

Neither Partners Nor Friends

The two gentlemen were no longer partners. Furthermore, they are no longer friends.

Not enemies, of course. But

UNITY OF ACTION IS WORLD'S NEED

Revolt Against Authority Leads to Disaster in Voyage of Life

"Unity of faith is very essential but unity of action is equally important," asserted Dr. H. C. Funk Sunday morning at the First Lutheran church.

"When an oarsman breaks stroke the effect is disastrous for the entire crew is thrown into disorder. We must all pull together. When divisions, or differences of opinion arise, we should withhold criticism and strive to work in harmony with the policy of the organization, if we would do constructive work. That there be no divisions among you, but that ye be perfectly joined together in the same mind and in the same judgment."

"Alas, that any should ever neglect the means of grace. But some people object to being warned; they do not want to be advised as to what their duties are. Never Came Back
The steamer Portland left Boston harbor in a storm in 1898. The government officer, advised the captain not to go, and the order was to stay in dock. Moreover, the captain must have been apprehensive, for he called to the light-house keeper, 'Keep a bright light burning, for we may come back.' But they never came back. They were caught in a awful storm, and all on board were lost. It was a sad wreck; but the saddest part is this: They were wrecked because somebody refused to take orders from a superior. Many lives are wrecked in the church in a similar way, thereby becoming derelicts."

"More than fifty ships, known as derelicts, are drifting on the highway of the seas. They have no compass by which to be guided, no one to give orders, no one to obey; they are drifting about the seas bearing no blessing, but instead have become a menace to others. In like manner human derelicts have refused to obey the voice of God, or, it may be, the authority of the church which is the pride of Christ. 'Whatsoever He saith unto you, do it.'"

COMMENT THAT'S ALL

Legislature Will Recess Several Days Under Way Will South Win Contest? German Situation Worse

By Gil A. Cowan

CALIFORNIA'S legislature comes to a recess this week-end with five or six big fights brewing. They are, in importance, as follows: The budget, reapportionment, the university problems, fish and game laws, branch banking and appropriations.

This does not take into consideration the Jones committee investigation for election expenses which is a forerunner to more Water and Power act excitement, nor does it include the assembly's gasoline price probe.

Of course, the governor holds the whip hand in the matter of finances and appropriations, so reapportionment looks as the one big fight with Los Angeles' efforts to get additional university courses as a relative matter.

It will be a case of dog eat dog in the branch bank fight, for few of the legislators are bankers and they will enjoy the independents' efforts to stop the further growth of chain banks.

As usual, there will be a fight over the fish and game laws and the growing number of private preserves which make the fisheries, etc., operated by the state, a privileged institution for a few of the people's pleasure, it is claimed by opponents.

There is something in the wind with San Francisco, Los Angeles and other sections heavily represented in the lobbies. The newspaper men have their ears to the ground trying to find out what is going to happen and the editors are calling for predictions on the different fights, but—

It is every man for himself this session and Governor Richardson holds enough power, under the budget bill, to do as he darn please.

The nearest approach to a prediction on reapportionment was given me by a Sacramento editor who said, "I believe the south will win."

Of course, Sacramento is not affected like San Francisco, and, inasmuch as all news is controlled in the Bay City insofar as press associations are concerned, the people in the south must depend on three special correspondents at the capital.

German situation grows steadily worse, according to the news reports. Anyone could predict that the Germans are going to keep on getting the worst of it, day by day, because they are in default totally.

The world need extend no sympathy toward those who five years ago were firing needle shrapnel over the lines at our boys. When I first saw their saw-tooth bayonets, dum-dum bullets and other instruments of torture, I could not believe the Heine to be human.

After lying in the hospital and seeing the cripples from overseas who were the victims of brutality, not war, I knew that the Germans were not human in their fighting.

And only by humbling their ego, by regenerating their thought toward their fellow-men will Germany again be able to take its place in the world among the world's people. That will take time.

Along this same line, the Sacramento Union says of "Unhappy Hohenzollerns":

"The sins of the Hohenzollerns are being visited in full measure on the former kaiser, Wilhelm. Word continues to trickle through the close guard surrounding Wilhelm intimating that his state of affairs is unhappy in the extreme."

"The latest message indicates that the former emperor and his second wife are living in widely separated wings of their Deutscher home, that neither is on friendly terms with the other and that the recent bridegroom is shunned by both his own children and those of his wife. He is a lonesome figure, commanding neither affection from those on whom he looks as monarch, nor respect from those who threaten him. To add insult to injury, a gland operation which he underwent has proved what would be known in the vernacular as a flivver."

"The kaiser's fall from high estate is a striking example of the certainty with which a false pride faces its doom."

Conductor Uses Same Lantern for 38 Years

HARRISBURG, Pa., Jan. 30.—His watch to the average railroad man is what a compass is to a mariner, but one retired here recently who in 38 years of service placed just as much pride in his lantern, James Robinson, a passenger conductor, when he left the service of the Pennsylvania Railroad, carried with him the same lantern with which he made his first run 38 years ago.

In all that time Robinson had successfully guarded the lantern against mishaps which are part of the average railroad man's life. Each time it was necessary to use it in a storm he afterward carefully oiled and polished it. Except for the fact that the lantern is of another style from those used at present it could not be told from a new one.

PONCE DE LEON TO CALL ON FLORIDA

Three-Day Historical Show To Be Held April 4 In St. Augustine

ST. AUGUSTINE, Jan. 30.—Juan Ponce, Knight of Leon, who on Easter Day, 1512, reached the coast of Florida near the present site of St. Augustine in search of the fabled Fountain of Youth, will return to the Land of Flowers.

The oldest city in the United States is planning a beautiful historical pageant in period costumes. It will open on April 4 with the landing of Ponce de Leon and his retinue of Spanish adventurers from an ancient caravel, while from the beach the Indians marvel at the white-winged bird which has brought these strange gods across the waters.

Arrangements have been completed to present a historically accurate three-day pageant in period costumes of the Spanish, French and British soldiery of the sixteenth and seventeenth centuries.

Colorful Pageant

Flags, helmets, pikes, broadswords, Spanish capes and mantles, costumes of silks, satins and laces, representations of Indian garb have all been specially designed. Thousands of dollars have been expended in careful costuming and for other equipment, including the ancient caravel from which Ponce de Leon and his retinue will land on the first day of the celebration.

Special songs about St. Augustine and Ponce de Leon have been composed. Dr. Andrew Anderson is preparing for the erection of a massive statue in one of the city's parks. It will be cast after the statue of Ponce de Leon in Porto Rico, where the remains of the famous explorer lie, and will be dedicated on the opening of the celebration.

The French, Spanish, English soldiery and the cavalry companies, also the Indians, mounted and unmounted, will be provided by various local organizations of St. Augustine. In fact, every man, woman and child in St. Augustine is taking some part in the preparations for the celebration.

Music will be provided by four bands. Cadets from the State University and troopers will take part in the celebration.

Three-day Celebration

Next April 4 will be Ponce de Leon day, depicting the landing of Ponce de Leon on the shores of Florida, the Indian battles and the subjugation of the Great Inconchone, or chief. April 5 will be Menendez day, commemorating the founding of St. Augustine by Pedro Menendez de Aviles on September 8, 1565. April 6 will witness the celebration, "Under Four Flags"—Spanish, French and English—and the final transfer of sovereignty to the United States, when the Stars and Stripes were raised on Fort Marion on February 19, 1821.

Yacht and motor boat races and athletic contests will vary the programme.

A large part of the historical celebration will be staged about the old Fort Marion, which was commenced in 1638 and completed in 1756.

St. Augustine was sacked by Sir Francis Drake in 1586, and at various periods in its colorful history it repulsed between English and Spanish sovereignty.

Decay of Versailles Alarms Paris Artists

PARIS, Jan. 30.—Versailles, the palace, with its surrounding gardens and statues, is doomed to ruin if quick steps toward renovation are not taken. The gradual decay of the famous Apollo group, the chariot drawn by four superb horses, is beginning to cause alarm among art circles. "The work of destruction is not on the surface," says the minister of the beaux arts, "and therefore all the more dangerous. The eggs of the horses are gradually contracting and the necks staying into the bodies. One or two more summers of playing the fountains and the beautiful group of Tuby will cease to be—that is the tragedy which is going on at Versailles."

The cost of repairing this group alone will be at least $20,000, and there are many others in need—the remarkable group of "Spain Subdued," by Girardon, and "Abundance," by Coysevox, in the court, where the balustrades and foundations are in a bad state. The trellis work enclosing the gardens must be completely restored, at a cost of $35,000, and a service of fire prevention should be installed in the garden alone. The needs immediate attention, not to speak of what should be done in the palace itself. If reparations are not soon taken Americans who pass this way will miss seeing perhaps France's greatest monument—a symbol of the spirit which dominated the kingdom in the good old days of the monarchy.

May Call Out Troops To Halt Liquor Riots

CLINCON, Ind., Jan. 30.—A warning from W. A. Satterlee, prosecuting attorney, that troops were needed, today followed the third death in the rioting at Blanford, near here. Simultaneously Bernard Morgan, Indiana federal prohibition enforcement officer, admitted that his staff was powerless to stop bootlegging in the town.

Mel Obravovich is dead. Steve Karnovich is in jail, charged with the killing as the result of another outbreak at a wedding at which illicit liquor is said to have played a prominent part. Two men were killed Sunday in another drunken riot.

Bull Is Expected to Survive 36 Day Fast

BERCAIL, Mont., Jan. 30.—The record for fasting by a domestic animal is believed to have been established here when a Hereford bull, owned by Carl Burke, of Bercail, was found in a deserted barn after having strayed from the rancher's herd. Apparently the bull had entered the barn and brushed the door shut, making himself a prisoner. He had been without food or water for thirty-six days, and was reduced to a skeleton, but it is believed he will recover.

SPORTS

The World Over

By FRANKLIN B. MORSE.
PACIFIC SPORTS SERVICE

The following rankings of the Pacific Coast golf players as compiled by two sets of "experts" is indicative of the diversity of opinion that exists. In the final analysis, it is possible ever to arrive at a conclusion of this sort. One rating is made by a California "expert," the other by a Seattle ditto.

- California Ratings
1. Geo. Von Elm, Salt Lake.
 2. Dr. O. F. Willing, Waverly.
 3. John F. Neville, Claremont.
 4. Ben Stein, Seattle.
 5. Fred Wright Jr., Plinridge.
 6. H. Chandler Egan, Waverly.
 7. Dr. O. F. Willing, Waverly.
 8. Clark Spiers, Inglewood.
 9. Dr. Chas. H. Walter, Edoquoia.
 10. Rudolph Wilhelm, Waverly.

- Northwest Ratings
1. Clark Spiers.
 2. Jack Neville.
 3. Dr. O. F. Willing.
 4. Dr. Paul Hunter.
 5. Ben Stein.
 6. Fred Wright.
 7. Rudolph Wilhelm.
 8. H. Chandler Egan.
 9. Claire Griswold.
 10. Rudolph Smith.

By this it will be noted that no man is rated in the same position by either "expert," and each list has names that the other ignores. The greatest divergence of opinion seems to exist in the case of Clark Spiers who is rated as number one on the one hand and only ranks eighth in the opinion of the other fellow. Here is a flagrant case of the futility of a reckoning of this sort. The discrepancy is too wide, and, in this case, the reader is inclined to pitch the whole thing into the waste paper basket.

There is one thing, however, that can be arrived at in the lists above given and that is that among the ten best players on the coast are Hunter, Neville, Spiers, Willing, Wright and Wilhelm. As to their positions in relation, one with the other, shuffle them up to suit your own ideas.

Whoever may be the "suckers" among the public, to pay the expenses, it would seem, nevertheless, that one or more promoters are on the road to get Dempsey into the ring for from one to three months. Unless a sudden change comes in the present situation, it would seem that there will be three fights, two of which are designed to be preparatory for a meeting between Dempsey and Willis. The universal fun that has been poked at the Willard-Dempsey match as a premier event seems to have had its effect and this battle is now being considered merely as one of the preliminaries, the promoters feeling that the public is in no mood to allow them to "put it over" as a "battle of the century" as they did their first meeting, together with the fight between Dempsey and Carpenter. There will have to be a soft pedal on the "battle of the century" stuff, and it is not likely to be tried out even in the Willis event.

WALTER JOHNSON TO STAY IN GAME

Old Time Pitcher Says He Will Settle in Reno When Finally Out

RENO, Nev., Jan. 30.—"When Walter Johnson winds up for the last time, he is going to settle down in Reno," So says E. E. Roberts, father-in-law of the "Kansas cyclone" and former congressman from Nevada, with whom the world's greatest speed ball artist has been spending the winter.

Walter corroborates the statement of his wife's father, but smiles about the talk that the year 1923 will be his last with the Washington Senators.

"I'll admit I've been in the game a long time. This will be the seventeenth season. Yes, I'm going back again. I haven't signed a contract yet, but the boss wrote me a letter the other day and wanted to know what I needed in the way of an outfit. Guess that means that I'm wanted," and Walter smiled in the same old way he has smiled since he broke in when "Wee Willie" Keeler was in his prime.

Just Like Politician
"They've treated me pretty fine at Washington, and I'm going to play my last ball game with them. Come to think, I've been with Washington a long time. The club has been sold several times and the players have changed a dozen times over."

"Still, Ty Cobb has been in the game much longer than I have and is still going strong. After living in Washington so long, I've come to look at life like the politicians. I'll hang on as long as they'll have me."

Johnson sticks to Mother Nature to keep in trim. The days he isn't shooting ducks at Roberts' famous duck pond near Reno, he's shooting pheasants at Yerington, geese at Washoe lake, or chasing deer over nearby mountain ranges.

"It's great out there and I'm coming back to live. Might tell the boys," Walter said, "that I'm in good company. I'm running around with a preacher named Brewster Adams, and this Brewster is a regular 'he-man.'"

Legion Quintet Wins From Faculty Tossers
A. G. Wheeler's American Legion basketball team upheld their rep. last night at the T. D. and L. theatre, treated some two thousand Glendalians with his greatest art prescription—laughter. He will continue to do so for the next three days, including today. Each and every one who saw "Dr. Jack," went away feeling better off for having seen it. Here is a doctor who will cure anyone of anything. It is Harold Lloyd's latest and finest picture.

"Last night the T. D. and L. theatre fairly shook with the echoes of glee," says Manager Ralph Allan. "Regardless of the bad weather, the crowds flocked to the theatre for every performance, day and night. It's a wonderful picture and one you should not miss. The first show starts at 1:30 o'clock in the afternoon, running from then until the last show, which starts at 9:15 o'clock at night. Regular prices prevail."

Britt and Sacco in Love Fest at Portland

PORTLAND, Ore., Jan. 30.—The boxing game received a somewhat discolored optic here last night when the main event between Frankie Britt and Jimmie Sacco turned out to be a love fest instead of a "mitt encounter."

The men so consistently refused to give the fans a run for their money that Referee Ralph Gruman called the bout no contest at the end of the fourth round. He waved the boxers out of the ring and the fans approved.

Frankie Grandetta won a six-round slashing decision over Bud Vance and Johnny Trambitas stopped Joe Dunn in the fifth round of a six-round encounter.

Jimmy O'Connell Is Signed Up for Giants

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 30.—Jimmy O'Connell, mightily pleased with the figures contained therein, today mailed his signed contract to John McGraw of the Giants who recently purchased the San Francisco baseball star for $75,000. O'Connell has completely recovered from an illness some time ago, weighs close to 200 and is in great condition.

Charley Herzog Case Not to Be Reopened

NEW YORK, Jan. 30.—Claiming that the player has already been given a clean bill of health and that the National League "has no quarrel with him," John A. Heyder today declared he would refuse to re-open the case of Charley Herzog, whose name became involved in an alleged baseball scandal several years ago.

SPORTS CHATTER

By BILL UNMACK
PACIFIC SPORTS SERVICE

The Major Leagues are full of history of players who have participated ten or more years, but long service in the minors is not as predominant as in the majors. Probably the record of Charlie (Spider) Baum, the Pacific Coast League pitcher up to a few years ago, is one of the outstanding examples of long playing life in a minor league. Baum played fifteen years in the Pacific Coast League.

True, there are many players with larger playing service than Baum, but there are not many pitchers with that continuous service. When we talk of long service in baseball by players the fans' mind wanders back to the illustrious old "Pop" Anson, who holds the record. Anson played four years with the Athletics; twenty-two years with the Chicago Nationals and prior to this he played a year in 1871 with the Rockford team. Then there is "Hans" Wagner with a total of twenty-one years' service. Coming down to present day players everyone is familiar with the eighteen-year record of Ty Cobb with Detroit.

Charlie Baum has been one of the best known pitchers the Pacific Coast League ever had. He started with Los Angeles in 1903 and with the exception of the years 1906 to 1909 he played continuously in the Coast League up to and including the 1920 season, when he retired. He is now coach of the pitching staff of the San Francisco team. For the year he was in minor league baseball he has an average for the entire playing years of .527, having won 253 games and lost 227. His career covers membership in five of the Pacific Coast League teams. Starting with Los Angeles he remained with them until the year 1909, when

THEATRES

The Glendale

"The Love Gambler," a Fox picture, featuring Carmel Myers and John Gilbert, is the main attraction at the Glendale theatre today. John Gilbert will be remembered as the star of "Monte Cristo." Carmel Myers has starred in many fine films.

"The Love Gambler" is the story of a breezy youth who hails from nowhere, bound on the breeze for the same place, who rides into a western town one day, gets into a scrap the first ten minutes—and suddenly meets THE girl.

When he learns that the girl is the daughter of a Col. McClelland, who owns a bad horse that has never been ridden, he boldly makes the wager that within a few days he will have ridden the Colonel's horse and kissed his daughter. And then the fun begins!

HINTS FOR THE MOTORIST

by ALBERT L. CLOUGH
Editor Motor Service Bureau Review of Reviews
Copyright, 1923, by the International Syndicate

CARING FOR THE HORN
It doesn't require much care, but its useful life and reliability are both greatly increased by a little attention, every few thousand miles. The tubular metal housing, which encloses the mechanism of most motor type horns, can be detached without dismantling the unit, by removing a single screw. With the parts exposed it is very easy to clean the commutator, by means of a little pad of folded cloth tightly held on it while the button is pressed and the motor is turning. The armature shaft bearings require a little oil, usually at both ends, two or three drops of sewing machine oil being sufficient. Too much oil may get into the windings and give trouble, and if heavy oil is used, it will make the horn sluggish in cold weather. No oil should ever be used on the commutator. Failure to instantly produce a uniform, positive tone is usually because the commutator is dirty or the bearings dry or gummed, and failure to blow at all or to sound intermittently is generally because the wires are loose under their binding nuts or broken within their insulating coverings. If the tone becomes high and screechy, after long use, it can be restored to normal by adjusting the armature shaft a little closer toward the diaphragm, a lock-nutted screw, at the commutator and bearing being generally provided for this purpose.

BATTERY QUESTIONS
G. T. B. asks: At what temperature will the liquid in a battery freeze, if it tests 1200? When the liquid in my battery is bubbling, from the passage of the charging current, it looks rather roily, but when it is quiet, it gets clear again. Should I have the cells cleaned out before next summer? When I lay my car up, what had I better do with this battery?

Answer: It will freeze at about ten degrees below zero. Battery liquid usually looks milky, when overcharging is taking place and, if this is what you refer to, it calls for no special action. No doubt, considerable active material has shed from the plates, but you may as well wait until this begins to give trouble from short-circuiting, before you have the cells washed out. We advise placing your battery at a reliable charging station for winter storage, where it will be kept charged and kept under expert attention.

SPARK TIMING ALTERS SUDDENLY

L. J. writes: My engine is equipped with a battery distributor, having automatic advance lever. On a recent trip, it stopped and could not be started until timing was advanced by loosening the whole distributor on the engine base and turning it 1 1/4 inches (measured on the outside of it). Please tell me what happened and whether the same thing is likely to happen again.

Answer: There being no manual control connection, the entire unit is prevented from rotating out of adjustment, by the clamp collar which grips it to its support and the most natural explanation of the occurrence would be that this clamp came loose and permitted the entire unit to turn in the direction of shaft reduction. However, you speak of loosening the clamp. The only other explanation, which occurs

"Yes," said Bridge, and let her go. He would have been glad to tell her the truth; but he couldn't do that without betraying Billy. He had heard enough to know that Francisco Villa had been so angered over the bold looting of the bank in the face of a company of his own soldiers that he would stop at nothing to secure the person of the thief once his identity was known. Bridge was perfectly satisfied with the ethics of his own act on the night of the bank robbery. He knew that the girl would have applauded him, and that Grayson himself would have done what Bridge did had a like emergency confronted the ranch foreman; but to have admitted complicity in the escape of the fugitive would have been to have exposed himself to the wrath of Villa, and at the same time revealed the identity of the thief. "Nor," thought Bridge, "would I get Brazos back for Barbara."

It was after dark when the vaqueros Grayson had sent to the ranch range returned to the ranch. They came empty-handed, and slowly for one of them supported a wounded comrade on the saddle before him. They rode directly to the office where Grayson and Bridge were going over some of the business of the day, and when the former saw them his brow clouded for he knew before he heard their story what had happened.

"Who done it?" he asked, as the men filed into the office, half carrying the wounded man.

"Some of Pesita's followers," replied Benito.

"Did they get the steers, too?" inquired Grayson.

"Part of them—we drove off most and scattered them. We saw the Brazos pony, too," and Benito looked from beneath heavy lashes in the direction of the bookkeeper.

"Where?" asked Grayson.

"One of Pesita's officers rode him—an American. Tony and I saw this same man in Cuivaca the night the bank was robbed, and today he was riding the Brazos pony." Again the dark eyes turned toward Bridge.

Grayson was quick to catch the significance of the Mexican's meaning. The more so as it was direct in line with suspicions which he himself had been nursing since the robbery.

During the colloquy the boss entered the office. He had heard the returning vaqueros ride into the ranch and noting that they brought no steers with them had come to the office to hear their story. Barbara, spurred by curiosity, accompanied her father.

"You heard what Benito says?" asked Grayson, turning toward his employer.

The latter nodded. All eyes were upon Bridge.

"Well," snapped Grayson, "what you gotta say for yourself? I ben suspectin' you right along. I knew derned well that that there Brazos pony never run off by himself. You an' that other crook thing up pretty slick, didn'tcha? Well, we'll—"

"Wait a moment, wait a moment, Grayson," interrupted the boss. "Give Mr. Bridge a chance to explain. You're making a rather serious charge against him without any particularly strong proof to back your accusation."

"Oh, that's all right," exclaimed Bridge, with a smile. "I have known that Mr. Grayson suspected me of implication in the robbery; but who can blame him—a man who can't ride might be guilty of almost anything."

Grayson sniffed. Barbara took a step nearer Bridge. She had been ready to doubt him herself only an hour or so ago; but that was before he had been accused.

ST. LOUIS, Jan. 30.—The Ozark peddler is almost extinct. Many years ago it was a familiar sight to see the old peddler with his bag of goods slung across his shoulder merrily making his way down the road in the foothills of the mountains which run through the State of Missouri. A stretch of the Ozark hills is within 20 miles of this city.

In those days the peddler had reason to be happy. He was welcomed by those who lived in these out-of-the-way spots and his business brought him a fair livelihood.

The Ozark foot merchant was similar to the old Donegal peddler in Ireland in that he made his way from house to house by foot, laying his goods before the housewife, and between exchanges of merry comment bartered his wares.

Modern days with the many changes they have brought, especially in transportation, have witnessed the gradual disappearance of the once merry peddler. One by one have thrown aside

TUNING TO RESONANCE

Referring to the previous article, wherein we adjusted the oscillation transformer to the desired wave length, the next step is to place the open and closed oscillatory circuits in resonance. This is done by adding or reducing the numbers of turns of antenna loading inductance, and observing by means of the hot wire ammeter placed in series with the maximum connection when the ground connection has been reached. If a hot wire ammeter is not available a flashlight electric lamp of about four volts may be inserted in series with the same ground connection, and maximum radiation is denoted when this lamp lights up brightest. Failing either a hot wire ammeter or a lamp, a small gap of about one-eighth of an inch may be made in the ground lead, and an indication of the maximum radiation detected when the spark across this gap is greatest. The next step is to adjust the coupling between the primary and secondary of the oscillation transformer in order that the wave emitted complies with the regulations. While this is usually accomplished by means of an instrument called a "decremeter," a close approximation may be obtained with a wave meter in the following manner: Having coupled the two circuits to indicate the greatest radiation, a wave meter reading should then be taken, covering the entire range of the wave meter. It is possible, indeed probable, that two or even more waves will be found. These are commonly called "humps," and the next problem is to eliminate all but one hump, which must indicate greatest amplitude at the wave length desired; in this case 600 meters. The coupling must there-

Society Compiles Ten Rules Showing How Folks May Retain Happiness

NEW YORK, Jan. 30.—Ten points on how a man can be happy though married were made public by the Legal Aid Society under the title of "Domestic Relations Decalogue." The Legal Aid Society, which provides free legal advice to the poor, came to its conclusions after handling thousands of domestic trouble cases. The points are:

One—Be generous to your wife according to your means.

Two—Do not interfere with a woman in the management of purely domestic affairs.

Three—Be cheerful, even though you find it hard sometimes.

Four—Be considerate, for the average woman is just a bundle of nerves.

Five—Make love to your wife; continue to be her sweetheart.

Six—Don't scold or find fault.

Seven—Establish your own home, if possible, away from your wife's and your own families.

Eight—Don't keep any star boards.

Nine—Cultivate newness and personal cleanliness.

Ten—Be kind and just to your children.

Uncle Wiggily Bedtime Stories

— BY HOWARD R. GARIS —

UNCLE WIGGILY AND THE RUNNER BIRD

"You want to be very careful when you go adventuring today," said Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzo to Uncle Wiggily one morning as the bunny rabbit gentleman was eating his breakfast in the hollow stump bungalow.

"Why should I be extra careful, Janie?" asked Uncle Wiggily, as he twinkled his pink nose just before eating a yellow carrot pancake.

"Because I dreamed last night that you were bitten by a snake," replied Nurse Jane. "You know snakes are very sly and crawly. As you hop through the woods one might glide up to you, before you heard him, and bite you or squeeze you."

"Burrr-r-r-r-r! Please don't talk about it!" cried Uncle Wiggily with a shiver. "I don't like snakes, though some have been kind and good to us."

"Yes," agreed the muskrat lady housekeeper. "I remember one that turned into a swing for me at a picnic. But this snake I dreamed about was not a good snake."

"Then I'll be careful," promised Uncle Wiggily, "though I don't believe in dreams. Don't worry, Nurse" Jane.

Having finished his breakfast Uncle Wiggily hopped down the steps of his hollow stump bungalow and off through the woods.

"This would be just the place for a snake to try to bite me, if there are any here," thought Uncle Wiggily as he came to a deep, dark place in the woods. The bunny looked all around him, and he was just thinking everything was all safe, when all of a sudden there was a little rustling in the bushes.

Uncle Wiggily hardly had time to jump to his feet when he saw a snake crawling toward him. But before the serpent could bite or squeeze the bunny there was another louder rustling in the bushes, and from beneath a sassafras tree fluttered a very strange bird.

The bird did not stop to bid Uncle Wiggily "good morning," but in an instant pounced upon that snake with its long, sharp bill, and a moment later that snake had vanished. The queer bird had eaten it.

"Oh, my goodness me sakes alive and a bottle of soap suds!" cried the bunny. "What does this mean? What queer bird you are! I don't remember to have seen you before. Who are you? But before you answer let me thank you for saving me from the snake."

"That's all right," answered the bird in rather a croaking voice. "I like snakes—that is, I like to eat them. As for me, I am called a ground cuckoo or road runner."

"Are you such a fast runner, then?" asked Uncle Wiggily, taking a second look at the bird, which had a very long, slender tail, almost as long as the runner bird himself. On the sides of his head were streaks of yellow feathers and on top of his head a bristling bunch of feathers, almost like those worn by the kingfisher bird.

"Well, yes, I am quite a fast runner," the ground cuckoo said, modestly enough. "I have to be a fast road runner to catch snakes, for they glide away so quickly when they see me. But this didn't get away," and the bird laughed as he looked at the mark made in the dusty path where the snake had crawled to get the bunny.

"You have done me a great favor by getting rid of the snake who was after me," said Uncle Wiggily, with a polite twinkle of his pink nose. "Now I should like to do a favor for you."

"Well, if you have any bad biting bugs about you, I would take it as a favor if you would give them to me," said the runner bird. "I eat bad bugs as well as snakes."

"I'm sorry, but I haven't any bugs, good or bad!" chuckled Uncle Wiggily.

"Well, then I shall have to run along and look for them somewhere else," answered the ground cuckoo. "Now you may see how fast I can run."

The runner bird was just going to run, when, all at once, there was another rustling in the bushes and out sprang the Fuzzy Fox.

"Ah, ha! Now for some good ear nibbles!" barked the Fox.

"Oh, dear!" sighed poor Uncle Wiggily. "The road runner bird can't help me now, for he surely can't swallow a Fox."

But the runner bird had another plan for saving the bunny rabbit. Quickly running in front of the Fox, the cuckoo cried:

"You can't catch me!"

"Oh, ho! Yes I can!" laughed the Fox, who was very proud of how fast he could run. "I can easily catch you! Watch me! I'll catch you in a second and then I'll nibble Uncle Wiggily's ears."

The queer bird ran a little way down the road, not so very fast at first, and the Fox, with another laugh, took after him. But no sooner did the Fox draw near than the bird began to make his long legs go faster and faster, until at last he was speeding along like an automobile. And, no matter how fast the Fox ran, he couldn't catch the runner bird.

"Ha! Ha! I thought I'd fool you!" laughed the bird, as he flew up into a tree. "I wanted you to chase me so Uncle Wiggily would have a chance to hop safely to his bungalow. Ha! Ha!"

"Wow!" howled the Fox, for he was very angry. He hurried back to the place where he had left Uncle Wiggily, but, of course, the

GOD IS CALLING MEN TO WARFARE

"Prayer Warrior" Is Subject of Rev. W. E. Edmonds Sermon Sunday

Rev. W. E. Edmonds spoke Sunday morning at the Glendale Presbyterian church on the "Prayer Warrior." He spoke in part as follows:

"Recently nations called their men to warfare and great was the response. God is also calling men for warfare, to advance on their knees, to go forth, not to die, but to live, and to live that others may live."

"Prayer is commerce with heaven—we need what God has, and what he wants us to have. We obtain only when we are in right relation to God through Jesus Christ. We should be as definite in our requests from God as we are when we buy goods from a merchant. When our desires are fervent and keen the prayer life is no longer barren. It is possible to be in right relationship to God even with imperfections in the life. Believing prayer is the secret of release of God's power into the needs of heart and life. There are many hindrances to prayer. We have an adversary who will wear us out if he can. We must wear him out through prayer."

Bill Proposes Income Tax for State Needs

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 30.—A state income tax to provide revenue for city, county or district purposes was proposed in the senate by Senator Charles H. V. Lewis of Los Angeles.

The measure introduced by Senator Lewis would exempt all incomes of $3000 a year or less from this tax, but all other incomes would be taxed for local purposes.

In a statement as to the purposes of this tax, Senator Lewis says that, under present taxation, a large class of citizens who receive large incomes entirely escape taxation for local purposes because they own no property.

This class, he asserts, should be made to bear its share of the burden of city and county government. Now this class pays taxes only to the federal government.

Under this tax no part of the upkeep of the state government is lifted from the shoulders of the utilities and corporations.

Pork Barrel Vote to Bring Clash on Budget

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30.—A show-down on the budget system of financing governmental operations, inaugurated by the present administration, is foreboding in connection with final action on the army appropriation bill, now pending before the senate.

Embodied in this bill is the annual rivers and harbors appropriation and it is upon this so-called pork barrel item that a spirited clash between the executive and legislative branches is expected to center.

President Harding has taken as a direct assault on the system the action of the house in increasing the rivers and harbors appropriation from $27,000,000 as recommended by the budget bureau to $56,000,000. This $29,000,000 increase, according to the White House, "not only was unwarranted but was contrary to the spirit of the administration's economy policy."

"What" roared the judge. "You ran down and killed three children? That will cost you $7.50, sir."

VACCINATION OF PETS IS SOUGHT

Ordinance Prescribes Shot Of Anti-Rabic Serum for Dogs and Cats

Dogs and cats may be vaccinated!

Such is the latest plan of the City Council.

Councilman C. E. Kimlin last night offered an ordinance which makes it a misdemeanor to keep any cat or dog for which a certificate of successful vaccination has not been issued. The penalty is a fine of not more than $500 or not more than six months in the county jail.

"Within thirty days after this ordinance takes effect," states this ordinance, "every person having control of any dog shall cause such dog or cat to be vaccinated with anti-rabic serum and cause to be filed with the city clerk, by a duly licensed and practicing veterinarian, a certificate describing such dog or cat with such peculiarities as may reasonably be practical in order that the same may be identified."

The police department is given the authority under this ordinance to collect all unvaccinated dogs and cats and to "destroy them in a humane manner."

Test Shows Rabies

Dr. G. Kaemmerling, city health officer, requested the passage of this ordinance, calling attention to the fact that about five children have been bitten by dogs in the past few days. He said that laboratory tests had proven that at least one of these dogs has rabies.

City Clerk A. J. VanVleet expressed an opinion that this ordinance would be the source of considerable objection upon the part of 1100 dog owners in Glendale.

Although no definite license fees have been agreed upon, fees of $7 for female dogs and $5 for males dogs are being considered. The price of cat licenses was not discussed at last night's session.

HONOR MARTYRED U. S. PRESIDENT

Daughters of Veterans Hold Exercises in Memory of William McKinley

The birthday of William McKinley, twenty-fifth president of the United States, was celebrated yesterday afternoon by the women of the Nimble Finger club, a section of the Mary Jane Gillette tent of the Daughters of Veterans.

The meeting was held at the home of Mrs. Agnes Richardson, 212 East California avenue, patriotic instructor of the tent, who had charge of the program.

Mrs. Cort Stuart read a biographical paper covering the martyred president's life, in which the following facts were brought out—William McKinley was born January 29, 1842, at Niles, Trumbull county, Ohio. "The cradle of presidents"; he was a lawyer by profession and a resident of Canton, Ohio, at the time of his election to the presidency, in 1897; he was a Republican and a Methodist; his career was cut short with his assassination, September 14, 1901, at Buffalo, N. Y.; he died a few days afterwards, in his fifty-eighth year; the body was taken to Canton for burial.

McKinley Program

After Mrs. Stuart's paper, the following program of short talks on various phases of the great president's life was delivered—"His Parents," by Mrs. Mary Chadwick; "His Birth and Early Home Life," by Mrs. Gertrude Griffin; "His School Days," by Mrs. Mae Burlingham; "His Wife," by Mrs. Queen Danner; "His War Career," by Mrs. Daisy Kulp; "His Character," by Mrs. Lulu Paugh; and "A Tribute to His Memory," by Mrs. Susie Peck.

Following the completion of this beautiful tribute to William McKinley, refreshments were served and a social half-hour enjoyed.

Knights Confer Order On Templar Candidate

The meeting last night of the Glendale Commandery, Knights Templar, was devoted to the usual activities of the organization, according to Dr. Roy V. Hogue, eminent commander. Dinner was enjoyed at 6:30 o'clock and was followed by the conferring of the Order of the Temple upon a candidate.

Knights of the commandery are greatly concerned over the serious condition of Charles H. Ravenscroft, their sentinel, who is ill at the Glendale Research hospital.

According to Dr. Hogue, reports from the hospital this morning state that Mr. Ravenscroft's condition is slightly improved.

Benefit Success

There were 140 card lovers at the benefit Bridge and Five-Hundred party given yesterday afternoon in the handsome ballroom hall by the Shakespeare Section of the Tuesday Afternoon club. The result was that the Section is able to add $50 to the amount necessary for the flat silver for the new club house. This silver is being furnished by a program and business session. The feature of business will be the election of chairmen of the standing committees, who will also be directors of the club.

Officers of the club are arranging the luncheon and meeting. Mrs. Fergusson being assisted by Mrs. Charles Barker, vice president; Mrs. Helen Moir, vice secretary; Mrs. Max L. Green, treasurer.

It was decided by these officers that the charter membership of the club be left open until after the February meeting and that all college or university women desirous of becoming members communicate with Mrs. Charles Barker at Glendale 117-W.

Entertain Club

Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Koontz of 546 West Vine street were hosts Saturday night, entertaining as their guests members of the Navajo Needlework club and their husbands.

At the dinner hour Five-Hundred was played with Mrs. L. O. Carlisle and J. C. Waite winning the prizes.

Mr. and Mrs. Koontz were assisted by their daughters Misses Emily and Eleanor.

The guests were Mr. and Mrs. Leslie O. Carlisle, Mr. and Mrs. Mark Carlisle, Mr. and Mrs. E. O. Carlisle, Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Fuller, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Waite, Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Root, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Overton, and Fred Lewis.

Japanese Affair

Miss Norma Wallace entertained a number of her friends Saturday night at her home 1247 S. Boynton avenue.

The invitations with clever sketches of Japanese design, were the work of the hostess and gave a little hint of the Japanese motif used so effectively in the decorations of the home.

The guests were entertained with music and later dancing. Refreshments of white brick ice cream and little cakes which concealed favors, were served.

Miss Lillian Wallace and Ruth Mitchell in Japanese costume assisted the hostess.

The guests who enjoyed Miss Wallace's hospitality were the Misses Carolyn Bly, Margaret Richardson, Dorothy Thompson, Helena Richardson, Ruth Goldsborough, Irene Wallace, Margaret McCourt, Walter Sullivan, Herbert Brooks, Robert La Rue, Thorne Richardson, Eddie Richardson, Frances Goldsborough and Fred Turzo.

Hawaiian Music

Languorous Hawaiian music will emanate from the American Legion hall tonight, the occasion being a big benefit staged by the Mary Jane Gillette tent of the Daughters of Veterans.

Mrs. Robert Danner, who is in charge of terpsichorean arrangements, announces that the advance sale of tickets has been most gratifying and that a jolly crowd will be present.

The music for the affair is said to be uncommonly fine. It is furnished by a popular Hawaiian quartet from Los Angeles.

Marry at Manse

Following the Sunday night service at the Glendale Presbyterian church a wedding took place at the Presbyterian Manse at 121 South Cedar street, Rev. W. E. Edmonds marrying Miss Lois A. Cummins and Richard Fred Reis of Glendale.

The only witnesses of the ceremony were Mr. Reis' parents Mr. and Mrs. Fred Reis of 215 East Palmer avenue.

The young couple are to reside in Los Angeles.

DEATHS, FUNERALS

MRS. ALEXANDER HOSACK
The funeral services of Mrs. Alexander B. Hosack were held yesterday afternoon, January 29, at the family residence, 703 East Harvard street.

Rev. W. E. Edmonds, her pastor, conducted the services. Rev. Louis Tinning read the Ninetieth Psalm. Mrs. C. M. Retts and Miss Elizabeth Mottern rendered in a touching manner, as a duet, "One Sweetly Solemn Thought."

Rev. Edmonds delivered a very eloquent address, touching on the beauty of her life and character, on her steadfast faith in the Lord Jesus, on her patience, on her love for others.

Rev. W. E. Tinning prayed sympathetically for the surviving members of the family, especially for those absent in the east. Mrs. Retts sang again, a solo, "Sun of My Soul."

Flowers, very numerous and very beautiful, were banded above and around the casket, bearing evidence of the generous love of neighbors and friends.

The pallbearers were Dr. F. M. Collier, R. P. Isitt, J. J. Davis, R. A. Peterson, C. S. Stewart and H. Goodwin.

The services were concluded at Forest Lawn cemetery.

HATTIE BRAASCH

Funeral services were held in the Little Church of the Flowers yesterday afternoon, Monday, January 29, 1923, under the direction of L. G. Soeven for Miss Hattie Braasch of 346 West Park avenue, who died Wednesday, January 24, 1923, at the age of 28. Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Braasch survive their daughter.

DOROTHY IRENE GREEN

Funeral services for Miss Dorothy Irene Green of 449 Florentia drive, Montrose, were held yesterday afternoon, Monday, January 29, 1923, in the chapel of L. G. Soeven.

Frances Prewitt Smith of La Crescenta was buried yesterday morning, January 29, 1923, in Forest Lawn cemetery. Dr. Benjamin H. Smith survives his wife. A daughter, Miss Evelyn Smith, lives in Bakersfield.

GERMANS, TURKS SEEK RUSS HELP

Outlaw Nation of Europe in Position of Power as War Clouds Gather

By LUTHER A. HUSTON
For International News Service
LONDON, Jan. 30.—Although an "outlaw" nation not recognized by the allies, nor a member of the League of Nations, Russia today heads a strategic position of tremendous military and political power. With war threatened in two quarters—Germany and the Near East—two nations are seeking Russia's assistance: Germany and Turkey.

It is reported that Russia has military agreements with both these powers, but this report is not officially confirmed.

Nurses Grievances
Russia has bitter grievances against the two strongest nations in Europe, Great Britain and France, but there has been a lessening of war talk at Moscow, owing to the desire of the soviet to obtain food, raw materials and capital from the outside and recognition from the allied and associated powers.

Moscow has an army of 600,000 men, but they are not equipped with the modern war materials. British officials are watching Russia with deep interest.

Government Cuts Down Claim on War Contract

DETROIT, Jan. 30.—The United States government, represented by Assistant Attorney-General Teller, agreed today to accept $1,550,000 from the receivers of the Lincoln Motor company, in full for claims aggregating $9,188,561.98, said to be due on war contracts, when the matter was taken up before Judge Tuttle in federal court here today.

ECONOMY BATTLE IS STILL RAGING

Harding Tells Bureau Heads
92 Million Dollar Deficit
Is to Be Overcome

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30.—The battle for governmental economy is still on and must be waged unceasingly, President Harding told an audience of departmental heads and bureau officers here yesterday afternoon in a letter expressing appreciation of the economy measures put into effect in the last year. The letter was read by Vice-President Coolidge.

The president's letter and an address by H. M. Lord, director of the budget, were delivered to the bureau heads as "the business organization of the government," an organization formed a year ago under the direction of General Dawes. While expressing appreciation of what already has been accomplished, both stressed the need for further economies if the government's income is to be balanced with its expenditures.

Campaign Continues

"The campaign begun with such high hopes and courageous defiance of the obstacles to be overcome is continuing today," the president wrote, "and with not little pride and satisfaction we point to continuing the policy of economy with efficiency evidenced by progressive and material reduction made in expenditures. This has been accomplished not only without impairment of the effective operation of government departments, but with an increase in efficiency."

"When the spirit of real economy has permeated the entire rank and file of the public service and the use of time and supplies is regarded as a public trust, many of our problems will be solved."

President Harding pointed out that a year ago the government was faced with an apparent deficit of $698,000,000, which was cut down to $92,000,000 through rigid economy.

Deficits to Be Cut

"What now confronts us," he said, "is the overcoming of this estimated deficit of $92,000,000 and, if possible, the closing of this fiscal year with a balance on the right side of the ledger. I know I can rely on you."

Congress has co-operated with the executive branch of the government, the president said. The budget act, he said, did not contemplate the taking away from congress any of its powers over fiscal affairs.

Work Brings Reward

"If you have made sacrifices of cherished plans in connection with your work," the president concluded, "if you have become discouraged and wearied at this continuing insistence upon economy, if you have labored without recognition of your services, we should remember that what we are doing is not for ourselves, not for the president of the United States, but for the people, the stockholders in this great business, who are dependent upon us for the welfare of this great business."

"Honest work, well and faithfully done, brings its own recompense in the consciousness of duty performed."

STRIKING MOTIF FOR DECORATION

Spirit of Music Is Keynote of Art and Color in New Music Store

Moorish art in color and design has been the inspiration for Glendale's new temple of music to be opened formally February 10, in the new Kent building at 123 South Brand boulevard.

It is the new home of the Brunswick Shop or the Glendale Phonograph company, and Manager Meyer Lightner is developing every new phase of the artistic scheme in order to provide a harmonious setting for the reception and serving of patrons.

The flaring blues, reds and gold incorporated in the decoration of all Moorish architecture are being used most effectively in the new shop by J. S. Schultz, artist, under whose personal supervision all the decoration is being done.

It is Mr. Schultz's aim to make the shop the finest of its kind in California, and how far he has attained this aim will be judged when the doors are opened February 10.

The arrangement and design of the booths is particularly interesting. Every booth on the lower floor is different, carried out in either the Egyptian or Arabian design. On the mezzanine floor the booths are of either the Japanese or Egyptian design.

Expressive of the spirit of music, oil paintings are to be hung on the side walls. The fixtures and the mezzanine floor have been expertly installed by C. L. Jelinek.

A special entertainment is being arranged for the opening night to express to the people of Glendale the appreciation of the company for their patronage and friendship.

More perfect service and a wider patronage is the goal of Manager Lightner for the new shop, in which he will carry Brunswick phonographs, records, standard pianos and players, musical instruments of all kinds and sheet music.

LECTURER TALKS TO H. S. STUDENTS

'Ambition' Is Rimmer's
Theme in First Address
On Present Schedule

Glendale Union High school boys renewed their acquaintance with Harry Rimmer yesterday noon when he was introduced to the Boys' League by Paul Edmonds and talked to them on "Ambition."

Harry Rimmer has an enviable understanding of young people and in his talk yesterday noon at the high school and again last night at the first meeting of "Young People's Week" at the Central Christian church he was accorded a flattering reception by his old and new friends in Glendale.

In his talk at the high school he reminisced about an experience he had in taking a Modoc Indian from reservation life into the busy activity of modern civilization. He told of the reaction of the Indian and of his special interest in electricity. The unsophisticated brave studied the electric light and then explained its secret by what he called "a fire within."

Talk Was Inspiring

Mr. Rimmer continued by picturing Andrew Carnegie as the poor Scotch lad, who became great because of his ambition or "fire within."

The entire talk was an inspirational message to the boys, encouraging them to be ambitious. "The Invisible Sovereign" was the subject taken by Mr. Rimmer in the evening.

He introduced his subject by telling of his boyish idea of a king. But it was not until he was a man and serving as athletic director of the Pacific fleet that he had the honor of grasping the Prince of Wales by the hand and finding that after all a king was "a regular fellow."

Belief Gives Faith

"It is our belief in the unseen that gives us faith," was Mr. Rimmer's message to the young people, hearing him.

During the meeting Mrs. Fannie Marple Retts sang a gospel solo, "He Is Waiting Outside the Door" and Ivan Dove gave a cornet solo.

Because of an operation on his nose Harry Marple was unable to be present and direct the music. His place was taken by Everett Anderson, who directed the music and also accompanied Mrs. Retts.

At the meeting tonight Mr. Rimmer will speak on "The Lost Trail" and there will be musical selections by Mrs. Floyd Mercer and by the Los Angeles Hi-Y colored quartet.

Urges Water Court as Commission Substitute

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 30.—Among the more important bills introduced in the assembly was one by McPherson of Vallejo in the form of a constitutional amendment providing for the creation of a water court to supplant the present state water commission.

The court would be composed of five members, three being engineers and two attorneys, each to be paid $10,000 a year.

Jurisdiction over water rights litigation, which now goes to the superior courts, would be given to the new court under McPherson's proposal.

Assemblyman Cleveland of Santa Cruz introduced a bill to limit the profit of druggists on prescription liquor to 100 per cent. The pharmacists, according to Cleveland, are now reaping as high as 600 and 800 per cent on such prescriptions.

STOCKS, MARKETS

NEW YORK, Jan. 30.—The stock market was settled in the late dealings, nearly all the leading issues being in supply. Many of the railroad stocks suffered losses of about 2 points, Reading falling from 79 1/2 to 77. Baldwin again broke to 132 and U. S. Steel to 106.

The oil and motor shares were also in supply. Government bonds unchanged; railway and other bonds unsettled.

In Grain Market

CHICAGO, Jan. 30.—News in the grain markets today were as bearish as ever. Marks were down at a new low; francs showed a decline. Prices in the local markets, however, showed surprising strength. The markets opened steady, then showed a flash of strength, continued firm and closed strong.

Wheat closed 1 1/2 higher and the finish yesterday; corn 3/4 up and oats 1 1/4 to 3/4 higher. Provisions finished firm; lard was up a nickel.

Declares Dividend

NEW YORK, Jan. 30.—The United States Steel corporation today declared the usual quarterly dividend of 1 1/4 per cent on the common stock and of 1 1/2 per cent on the preferred stock.

The report for the quarter ended December 30 last shows net earnings of $27,552,392 compared with $27,463,945 in the previous quarter.

CONGRESS FACES STORMY SESSION

Hope for Passage of Ship
Subsidy Bill Is Lost by Administration

By KENNETH W. CLARK
For International News Service
WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 30.—Congress has entered the home stretch of its long, troublesome legislative race. In five weeks, the present session dies, with numerous important problems still undecided.

Paramountly, from the administration's point of view, remains the ship subsidy bill, which apparently has been successfully and permanently sidetracked by legislative jockeying of its opponents.

There seems little possibility that the shipping bill can ever be forced to a vote at this session. This, even the most hopeful supporters believe, would mean its death, for the personnel of the new congress is known to be even more antagonistic to the bill than the present.

What hope the administration marine act has practically vanished for passage of the merchant ship bill with then ew complexities of the farm credits situation in the senate. Until a few days ago, every indication pointed to clear sailing for the Lenroot-Anderson bill and there was ample reason to believe it would pass this mark.

Bring In New Bill

Now passage seems remote as a result of announcement by Senator Norbeck, Republican, of North Dakota, that he would this week offer his $250,000,000 foreign credits bill as a substitute for the Lenroot measure, sponsored by the administration. Norbeck has the support of the "farm bloc," and the agricultural committee, whose members feel the bill more adequately fills the need of the farmers for it provides greater market facilities, held to be more essential than domestic credits.

While the new farm credits bill is smoldering, another fight is smoldering, perhaps even more bitter, looms when the army supply bill is reported, either Tuesday or Wednesday. It is expected efforts will be made to have this measure temporarily displace rural relief bills.

The senate's "small army" group wants to cut down the size of the personnel and slash the rivers and harbors appropriations.

Dentist Will Practice Profession in Glendale

Dr. W. E. Sunderman, a recent arrival from Oakland, Cal., is the newest member of the dental profession in Glendale. He has opened an office in the Nesselroad building at 221-A West Broadway.

Accompanying Dr. Sunderman were his wife and two children and they are now located at 1219 North Central avenue.

Dr. Sunderman, who had practiced for twelve years in Oakland, Ill., served during the war in the dental corps of the army.

He is a cousin of Mrs. R. N. Greenlaw of 621 North Geneva street and Mrs. C. E. Williams of 471 West Windsor road and they and their many friends are welcoming the Sunderman family to Glendale.

Grammar school students who will graduate Friday night in the high school auditorium are looking forward to the occasion with anticipation.

Reynold E. Bligh, of Los Angeles, who will speak Thursday night at the High school graduation, will also speak to the eighth grade graduates.

Diplomas will be awarded by Dr. Presly O. Lucas, member of the Grammar School Board of Education. The class includes 105 pupils from Wilson Avenue intermediate school and nineteen from Glendale Avenue intermediate school who have been taking most of their classes at the Cerritos school.

MINOR OPERATION

A minor operation was performed upon Contractor B. L. Cline of 135 North Orange street this morning at the Glendale Sanitarium and Hospital.
